7.4 Motions Pending Capacity Proceedings

G.S. 15A-1001(b) permits the court to go forward with any motions that the juvenile's counsel can handle without the assistance of the juvenile pending determination of capacity to proceed. See also Jackson v. Indiana, 406 U.S. 715, 740–41 (1972) (indicating that counsel may proceed even with dispositive motions that do not require the defendant's assistance, such as a motion challenging the sufficiency of the indictment).
